1. This is a brief note to follow up STAP's invitation for you to be the Panel's guest for lunch on Tuesday 26 January on the first day of its winter meeting. [REDACTED]

2. STAP lunches are informal, "sandwich" sessions [REDACTED] intended to provide an easy atmosphere for informal discussion. The object is to give the members a better sense of what issues and problems are on senior officers' minds, particularly in areas that have S&T aspects. Discussion is off the record and literally informal, with guest and members sitting around the table and speaking between bites. Generally, the Chairman will begin by offering you a chance to make any remarks you wish and then letting discussion and questions flow. STAP has had an abiding interest in arms control and is eager to hear anything you might have to say on INF, START, verification, and implications for the Intelligence Community. As always, the Panel is also interested in finding out if there are ways in which the group or its individual members can help you.
